

QUICK MEAL
STEEL RANGES
RINGEN STOVE CO.
SIXTH ST. NEAR LOCUST ST.

E-Z STOVE POLISH
(Liquid) DOES IT EASY

PILES
Permanently cured without surgery. Cure guaranteed. Dr. M. K. Smith, 1015 N. 1st St., St. Louis, Mo.

NOTARY PUBLIC.
J. F. FAIRBANKS
ST. LOUIS REPUBLIC OFFICE.
Seventh and Olive sts.
Telephone—Main 215; A 672.

CITY ITEMS.
The last week and the curtain drops on the most wonderful play of modern times at the Crawford. The presentation of the "Bavarian Passion Play" takes place on the fifth floor at 10:30 a. m., 2:30 and 4 p. m. It will be the record of the play if you do not see it!

NERVOUS people should use the genuine Dr. Siegel's Anker-Pain-Expeller.

BROUGHT HOME WITH HIS MIND CLOUDED.

Richard S. Morley, Who Disappeared on March 17, Unable to Make Explanation.

FOUND IN LOUISVILLE, KY.

Brother Believes That He Walked All the Way, Suffering From the Effects of Blow on the Head.

Richard Sherman Morley, who mysteriously disappeared Sunday night, March 17, following a call on his fiancée, was brought back to his home in St. Louis Sunday morning by his brother and partner in the contracting business from Louisville, Ky., where he was found Saturday, as told in Sunday's Republic. The young contractor has lost control of his mental faculties and it is the belief of his brother that he walked the entire distance to Louisville.

When Morley left the home of Miss Abbie Carroll, No. 412 Connecticut avenue, he wore a new overcoat, possessed a fine watch and chain, gold shirt buttons, a ring and several dollars in cash. When a Louisville policeman took him from a telephone office to the police station he had none of these articles. They are he is unable to explain. His clothing was new and spotless when he left Miss Carroll. His shoes were not the least worn and were highly polished. When his brother found him at the station in Louisville Saturday morning, he was found in a dazed condition, the clothing was clean, and his shoes were not the least worn. He was nearly gone from his shoes. His hair was unkempt and his beard had been allowed to grow.

Although he comes back to her with unbalanced mind, Miss Carroll said that she felt relieved of a terrible load on her own mind, and she believes that it will be only a question of a short time, under the expert medical care that her fiancée is to have, that he will have recovered.

Miss Carroll was at the home of Charles Klein, No. 215 Lafayette avenue, Sunday morning when Mr. Morley under the care of his brother, arrived. He looked at her with a black sort of gaze and did not know her. Neither did he recognize the others with whom he has come in daily contact for the last four years. He gazed about the room as if it were a strange place to him and did not know where he had been. He did not know the one he had occupied since he came to St. Louis in 1887.

Charles Morley, who is the only person whom the afflicted man seems to recognize, and at times he even gazes at him wonderingly. He said that his mind is unbalanced there can be no doubt, his physician says. What caused it, none is able to say. The absence of his jewelry and money led his friends to believe that he might have been assaulted and robbed. A blow on the head causing his mental condition. A close examination fails to show any evidence that he was struck.

Munday Morley is to be taken to a private sanitarium at Jackson, Mo., where he will be under the care of Dr. J. H. Reed, an expert on mental derangements and a close friend of the afflicted man.

LIBRARY BOARD SANGUINE.

Members Believe That Tax Increase Amendment Will Carry.

According to the reports received by the Public Library Board, voters in every section of St. Louis, irrespective of party, will unite in carrying the measure providing for an increase of the rate of taxation for library purposes. What caused it, none is able to say. The absence of his jewelry and money led his friends to believe that he might have been assaulted and robbed. A blow on the head causing his mental condition. A close examination fails to show any evidence that he was struck.

The board believes that it will be carried by an overwhelming majority. All the members are anxious to have this case, as in informing Andrew Carnegie of the result of the election they desire to show that all the people of St. Louis appreciate the generous gift to the library, and are willing to do all in their power to aid themselves of it. In the event of the measure being carried, the Carnegie $100,000 will be assured to the city.

The defeat of the measure would mean practically a rejection of Mr. Carnegie's offer, as there is no other way in which a maintenance fund of $100,000 per annum could be secured. The board, however, is confident that the measure will be carried, and that the Carnegie money will be taken immediately after the election to provide a site and commence the building of the new library.

PRINCIPAL MARRIES TEACHER.

Professor Pyle and Miss Bessie Irish Wed in St. Louis.

Professor W. H. Pyle and Miss Bessie Irish of Carlyle, Ill., were married Saturday in the office of Justice Robert Walker. Professor Pyle is the principal of the public schools of Carlyle and the bride is the daughter of Mr. W. H. Irish, a well-known contractor. She is employed as a teacher in the fourth grade of the school.

According to dispatches from Carlyle, Professor Pyle and Miss Irish left there on an early morning train Saturday for St. Louis. The bride is said to be one of the prettiest and most popular young women of Carlyle.

SEEKING WILLIAM HUGHES.—Captain Greedy of the Seventh District Police has been requested to locate William Hughes, 11 years old, who is missing from his home. He was employed at the Leggett & Myers tobacco factory on Folsom avenue, near Tower Grove avenue, until Friday, when he was discharged. He did not return after his dismissal. His parents fear that he may have left the city. When he went to work he wore a blue serge coat and vest and dark trousers of a striped material.

Come and see our Box Calf Double-Sole Shoe. Last or Congress. All sizes for $2.50. Open to 10 Saturday. HARRIS SHOE CO., 520 Pine St.

INVESTIGATION TO BE VIGOROUSLY PUSHED

Circuit Attorney Folk Will Try to Ascertain Who Revealed Grand Jury Secrets.

JURORS TO BE RECONVENED.

Ten Are Republicans, but They Deny Having Given Information to Organ of That Party.

Circuit Attorney Folk has decided to push the investigation of the report that one of the members of the Grand Jury had divulged secrets of the body for the benefit of a morning newspaper, which were published Saturday. He will request Cyrus P. Blanke, foreman of the Grand Jury, to reconvene the members for the purpose of making further inquiry, and show the identity of the person who gave the information be made known, his punishment for committing a misdemeanor will probably follow.

Mr. Folk and the grand jurors express indignation that such a reflection should be placed upon them, the latter demonstrating their disapproval through the resolution adopted Saturday. Individually the grand jurors are men of high standing in St. Louis. That they should be suspected of violating the oath they took when sworn in by Judge Wood as grand jurors, this oath expressly providing against the giving away of any of the secrets of the Grand Jury room, or its proceedings, they deem an insinuation which they will not tolerate.

Ten Are Republicans.
The Grand Jury is composed of ten Republicans and two Democrats, and in the investigation it seems more than a coincidence that the Globe-Democrat the Republican organ of St. Louis, should be the paper to publish the secrets of the members of the jury. Where names appeared on the list of those indicted was known only to the grand jurors, the court and the clerk of the court. Some of the indictments were returned to the Court of Criminal Correction. Warrants had not been issued, and the indictments were not in possession of the information as to who had been indicted.

It has been customary in the criminal courts for the Grand Jury to make its report to the judge of the court under whose jurisdiction it sits, and the judge of the court worked, and for the court in turn to hand the indictments over to the clerk. Such is the custom, and the grand jurors are known to be in custody, are then given to the press, and individuals who ask for information. The clerk, however, is locked up in the clerk's desk, and carefully guarded until warrants can be issued and persons indicted brought in by the sheriff or his deputies.

Alleged Interviews With Juror.
The investigation of the report that one of the members of the Grand Jury had divulged secrets of the body for the benefit of a morning newspaper, which were published Saturday. He will request Cyrus P. Blanke, foreman of the Grand Jury, to reconvene the members for the purpose of making further inquiry, and show the identity of the person who gave the information be made known, his punishment for committing a misdemeanor will probably follow.

When Morley left the home of Miss Abbie Carroll, No. 412 Connecticut avenue, he wore a new overcoat, possessed a fine watch and chain, gold shirt buttons, a ring and several dollars in cash. When a Louisville policeman took him from a telephone office to the police station he had none of these articles. They are he is unable to explain. His clothing was new and spotless when he left Miss Carroll. His shoes were not the least worn and were highly polished. When his brother found him at the station in Louisville Saturday morning, he was found in a dazed condition, the clothing was clean, and his shoes were not the least worn. He was nearly gone from his shoes. His hair was unkempt and his beard had been allowed to grow.

Although he comes back to her with unbalanced mind, Miss Carroll said that she felt relieved of a terrible load on her own mind, and she believes that it will be only a question of a short time, under the expert medical care that her fiancée is to have, that he will have recovered.

WINSOME BRIDE DISAPPEARED.

Untoward Result of a December-May Wedding in Virginia.

REPUBLIC SPECIAL.
Richmond, Va., March 31.—James Sellixon, a hale and hearty but hoary-headed man of eighty-two, and Lou Wilson, a plump and pretty lass, left their homes in Halifax County, Va., two days ago and went to Henderson, N. C., where they were to be married. They were accompanied by Giles Ford and Henry Wise, two young neighbors, who were adding them in their arrangement. While enroute from Henderson to Springfield, Va., the couple intended to locate a storm came up and the wedding pair decided to stop at a neighboring house, where Ford and Wise went to Springfield. The young men returned with the buggy the next morning and took away the winsome bride, telling her somewhat dilapidated better half that a vehicle would be along shortly for him.

The bridegroom grew uneasy, not only on account of his bride, but because of the fact that his trunk, which had gone on before, contained $1,000 in currency. He sent a telephone message to Springfield, causing the arrest of Ford and Wise. He then hastened to the place and found both with money safe. The young men were both set free.

Mr. and Mrs. Sellixon then left town in a buggy, but the following morning the young bride returned alone, having left her aged partner some thirty miles out in the country. Since then the young lady has disappeared and it is not known where she has gone.

NOT "BAD JACK" WILLIAMS.

Similarity of Names Embarrasses House Candidate.

John B. Williams, Democratic candidate for the House of Delegates in the Fourth District, has been confused with John B. Williams, the former city detective, known as "Bad Jack."

A publication in a local newspaper Sunday made the same mistake, causing no little embarrassment to the Democratic candidate and his friends. The statement also resulted in the circulation of a report that the candidate for the House in the same ward, was responsible for the incarceration of Mr. Giesler, a well-known Republican.

Mr. Williams, the former city detective, known as "Bad Jack," is a well-known figure in the city. He is a member of the House of Delegates in the Fourth District, and his name is well known to the voters of the district.

CANTATA AT CATHEDRAL.—Christ Church Cathedral choir will give the Passion cantata, "The Seven Last Words of Our Savior," by Mercadante, next Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock. The cantata is a fifty-first choral evensong at the Cathedral.

ORIENTAL POMPAAT OF KING OF CHINATOWN.

Gam Lee's Funeral Cortege Headed by a Brass Band, While the Procession of Gorgeously Dressed Mourners Is More Than Three Blocks Long.

Banner bearers of the Chinese Freemasons of St. Louis.

Never in the history of Chinatown has a funeral service been marked with the pomp and splendor which attended the burial of Gam Lee in Hop Alley Sunday afternoon.

The funeral procession was formed at 1 o'clock at the entrance to the alley between Market and Walnut streets in Eighth street. The procession was led by Andrew Foo, a Christian Chinaman, who was mounted on a snow-white charger, behind him marched the A. F. M. band, then followed the funeral cortege, members of the lodge of Chinese Masons, mourners, friends and a throng of morbidly curious individuals for the most part natives who laughed, jeered and shouted in the wake of the unique procession, which was more than three blocks long.

All along the route from the entrance to Hop Alley to the Wesleyan Cemetery on the Olive street road, thousands of St. Louisans expressed interest in the black, white and yellow gowns of the Chinese guard of honor and the red turbans and similar garbs of the Masonic fraternity. The carriages were decorated with Chinese flags and the four members of the Chinese funeral band rode in carriages and carried musical instruments. The procession was led by Andrew Foo, a Christian Chinaman, who was mounted on a snow-white charger, behind him marched the A. F. M. band, then followed the funeral cortege, members of the lodge of Chinese Masons, mourners, friends and a throng of morbidly curious individuals for the most part natives who laughed, jeered and shouted in the wake of the unique procession, which was more than three blocks long.

Long before noon, the hour appointed for the funeral, more than 2,500 white, negroes and Chinese crowded in Hop Alley, lined up the sidewalks and the street stands of Chinamen, who vended dressed turkeys, chickens, ducks and other edibles. While the funeral services were in progress, the crowd was augmented to several thousand laughing, shouting, curious men, women and children. The Chinese custom, which is to bury the dead in the morning, was followed by the Chinese funeral band and the street stands of Chinamen, who vended dressed turkeys, chickens, ducks and other edibles. While the funeral services were in progress, the crowd was augmented to several thousand laughing, shouting, curious men, women and children. The Chinese custom, which is to bury the dead in the morning, was followed by the Chinese funeral band and the street stands of Chinamen, who vended dressed turkeys, chickens, ducks and other edibles. While the funeral services were in progress, the crowd was augmented to several thousand laughing, shouting, curious men, women and children. The Chinese custom, which is to bury the dead in the morning, was followed by the Chinese funeral band and the street stands of Chinamen, who vended dressed turkeys, chickens, ducks and other edibles. While the funeral services were in progress, the crowd was augmented to several thousand laughing, shouting, curious men, women and children. The Chinese custom, which is to bury the dead in the morning, was followed by the Chinese funeral band and the street stands of Chinamen, who vended dressed turkeys, chickens, ducks and other edibles. While the funeral services were in progress, the crowd was augmented to several thousand laughing, shouting, curious men, women and children. The Chinese custom, which is to bury the dead in the morning, was followed by the Chinese funeral band and the street stands of Chinamen, who vended dressed turkeys, chickens, ducks and other edibles. While the funeral services were in progress, the crowd was augmented to several thousand laughing, shouting, curious men, women and children. The Chinese custom, which is to bury the dead in the morning, was followed by the Chinese funeral band and the street stands of Chinamen, who vended dressed turkeys, chickens, ducks and other edibles. While the funeral services were in progress, the crowd was augmented to several thousand laughing, shouting, curious men, women and children. The Chinese custom, which is to bury the dead in the morning, was followed by the Chinese funeral band and the street stands of Chinamen, who vended dressed turkeys, chickens, ducks and other edibles. While the funeral services were in progress, the crowd was augmented to several thousand laughing, shouting, curious men, women and children. The Chinese custom, which is to bury the dead in the morning, was followed by the Chinese funeral band and the street stands of Chinamen, who vended dressed turkeys, chickens, ducks and other edibles. While the funeral services were in progress, the crowd was augmented to several thousand laughing, shouting, curious men, women and children. The Chinese custom, which is to bury the dead in the morning, was followed by the Chinese funeral band and the street stands of Chinamen, who vended dressed turkeys, chickens, ducks and other edibles. While the funeral services were in progress, the crowd was augmented to several thousand laughing, shouting, curious men, women and children. The Chinese custom, which is to bury the dead in the morning, was followed by the Chinese funeral band and the street stands of Chinamen, who vended dressed turkeys, chickens, ducks and other edibles. While the funeral services were in progress, the crowd was augmented to several thousand laughing, shouting, curious men, women and children. The Chinese custom, which is to bury the dead in the morning, was followed by the Chinese funeral band and the street stands of Chinamen, who vended dressed turkeys, chickens, ducks and other edibles. While the funeral services were in progress, the crowd was augmented to several thousand laughing, shouting, curious men, women and children. The Chinese custom, which is to bury the dead in the morning, was followed by the Chinese funeral band and the street stands of Chinamen, who vended dressed turkeys, chickens, ducks and other edibles. While the funeral services were in progress, the crowd was augmented to several thousand laughing, shouting, curious men, women and children. The Chinese custom, which is to bury the dead in the morning, was followed by the Chinese funeral band and the street stands of Chinamen, who vended dressed turkeys, chickens, ducks and other edibles. While the funeral services were in progress, the crowd was augmented to several thousand laughing, shouting, curious men, women and children. The Chinese custom, which is to bury the dead in the morning, was followed by the Chinese funeral band and the street stands of Chinamen, who vended dressed turkeys, chickens, ducks and other edibles. While the funeral services were in progress, the crowd was augmented to several thousand laughing, shouting, curious men, women and children. The Chinese custom, which is to bury the dead in the morning, was followed by the Chinese funeral band and the street stands of Chinamen, who vended dressed turkeys, chickens, ducks and other edibles. While the funeral services were in progress, the crowd was augmented to several thousand laughing, shouting, curious men, women and children. The Chinese custom, which is to bury the dead in the morning, was followed by the Chinese funeral band and the street stands of Chinamen, who vended dressed turkeys, chickens, ducks and other edibles. While the funeral services were in progress, the crowd was augmented to several thousand laughing, shouting, curious men, women and children. The Chinese custom, which is to bury the dead in the morning, was followed by the Chinese funeral band and the street stands of Chinamen, who vended dressed turkeys, chickens, ducks and other edibles. While the funeral services were in progress, the crowd was augmented to several thousand laughing, shouting, curious men, women and children. The Chinese custom, which is to bury the dead in the morning, was followed by the Chinese funeral band and the street stands of Chinamen, who vended dressed turkeys, chickens, ducks and other edibles. While the funeral services were in progress, the crowd was augmented to several thousand laughing, shouting, curious men, women and children. The Chinese custom, which is to bury the dead in the morning, was followed by the Chinese funeral band and the street stands of Chinamen, who vended dressed turkeys, chickens, ducks and other edibles. While the funeral services were in progress, the crowd was augmented to several thousand laughing, shouting, curious men, women and children. The Chinese custom, which is to bury the dead in the morning, was followed by the Chinese funeral band and the street stands of Chinamen, who vended dressed turkeys, chickens, ducks and other edibles. While the funeral services were in progress, the crowd was augmented to several thousand laughing, shouting, curious men, women and children. The Chinese custom, which is to bury the dead in the morning, was followed by the Chinese funeral band and the street stands of Chinamen, who vended dressed turkeys, chickens, ducks and other edibles. While the funeral services were in progress, the crowd was augmented to several thousand laughing, shouting, curious men, women and children. The Chinese custom, which is to bury the dead in the morning, was followed by the Chinese funeral band and the street stands of Chinamen, who vended dressed turkeys, chickens, ducks and other edibles. While the funeral services were in progress, the crowd was augmented to several thousand laughing, shouting, curious men, women and children. The Chinese custom, which is to bury the dead in the morning, was followed by the Chinese funeral band and the street stands of Chinamen, who vended dressed turkeys, chickens, ducks and other edibles. While the funeral services were in progress, the crowd was augmented to several thousand laughing, shouting, curious men, women and children. The Chinese custom, which is to bury the dead in the morning, was followed by the Chinese funeral band and the street stands of Chinamen, who vended dressed turkeys, chickens, ducks and other edibles. While the funeral services were in progress, the crowd was augmented to several thousand laughing, shouting, curious men, women and children. The Chinese custom, which is to bury the dead in the morning, was followed by the Chinese funeral band and the street stands of Chinamen, who vended dressed turkeys, chickens, ducks and other edibles. While the funeral services were in progress, the crowd was augmented to several thousand laughing, shouting, curious men, women and children. The Chinese custom, which is to bury the dead in the morning, was followed by the Chinese funeral band and the street stands of Chinamen, who vended dressed turkeys, chickens, ducks and other edibles. While the funeral services were in progress, the crowd was augmented to several thousand laughing, shouting, curious men, women and children. The Chinese custom, which is to bury the dead in the morning, was followed by the Chinese funeral band and the street stands of Chinamen, who vended dressed turkeys, chickens, ducks and other edibles. While the funeral services were in progress, the crowd was augmented to several thousand laughing, shouting, curious men, women and children. The Chinese custom, which is to bury the dead in the morning, was followed by the Chinese funeral band and the street stands of Chinamen, who vended dressed turkeys, chickens, ducks and other edibles. While the funeral services were in progress, the crowd was augmented to several thousand laughing, shouting, curious men, women and children. The Chinese custom, which is to bury the dead in the morning, was followed by the Chinese funeral band and the street stands of Chinamen, who vended dressed turkeys, chickens, ducks and other edibles. While the funeral services were in progress, the crowd was augmented to several thousand laughing, shouting, curious men, women and children. The Chinese custom, which is to bury the dead in the morning, was followed by the Chinese funeral band and the street stands of Chinamen, who vended dressed turkeys, chickens, ducks and other edibles. While the funeral services were in progress, the crowd was augmented to several thousand laughing, shouting, curious men, women and children. The Chinese custom, which is to bury the dead in the morning, was followed by the Chinese funeral band and the street stands of Chinamen, who vended dressed turkeys, chickens, ducks and other edibles. While the funeral services were in progress, the crowd was augmented to several thousand laughing, shouting, curious men, women and children. The Chinese custom, which is to bury the dead in the morning, was followed by the Chinese funeral band and the street stands of Chinamen, who vended dressed turkeys, chickens, ducks and other edibles. While the funeral services were in progress, the crowd was augmented to several thousand laughing, shouting, curious men, women and children. The Chinese custom, which is to bury the dead in the morning, was followed by the Chinese funeral band and the street stands of Chinamen, who vended dressed turkeys, chickens, ducks and other edibles. While the funeral services were in progress, the crowd was augmented to several thousand laughing, shouting, curious men, women and children. The Chinese custom, which is to bury the dead in the morning, was followed by the Chinese funeral band and the street stands of Chinamen, who vended dressed turkeys, chickens, ducks and other edibles. While the funeral services were in progress, the crowd was augmented to several thousand laughing, shouting, curious men, women and children. The Chinese custom, which is to bury the dead in the morning, was followed by the Chinese funeral band and the street stands of Chinamen, who vended dressed turkeys, chickens, ducks and other edibles. While the funeral services were in progress, the crowd was augmented to several thousand laughing, shouting, curious men, women and children. The Chinese custom, which is to bury the dead in the morning, was followed by the Chinese funeral band and the street stands of Chinamen, who vended dressed turkeys, chickens, ducks and other edibles. While the funeral services were in progress, the crowd was augmented to several thousand laughing, shouting, curious men, women and children. The Chinese custom, which is to bury the dead in the morning, was followed by the Chinese funeral band and the street stands of Chinamen, who vended dressed turkeys, chickens, ducks and other edibles. While the funeral services were in progress, the crowd was augmented to several thousand laughing, shouting, curious men, women and children. The Chinese custom, which is to bury the dead in the morning, was followed by the Chinese funeral band and the street stands of Chinamen, who vended dressed turkeys, chickens, ducks and other edibles. While the funeral services were in progress, the crowd was augmented to several thousand laughing, shouting, curious men, women and children. The Chinese custom, which is to bury the dead in the morning, was followed by the Chinese funeral band and the street stands of Chinamen, who vended dressed turkeys, chickens, ducks and other edibles. While the funeral services were in progress, the crowd was augmented to several thousand laughing, shouting, curious men, women and children. The Chinese custom, which is to bury the dead in the morning, was followed by the Chinese funeral band and the street stands of Chinamen, who vended dressed turkeys, chickens, ducks and other edibles. While the funeral services were in progress, the crowd was augmented to several thousand laughing, shouting, curious men, women and children. The Chinese custom, which is to bury the dead in the morning, was followed by the Chinese funeral band and the street stands of Chinamen, who vended dressed turkeys, chickens, ducks and other edibles. While the funeral services were in progress, the crowd was augmented to several thousand laughing, shouting, curious men, women and children. The Chinese custom, which is to bury the dead in the morning, was followed by the Chinese funeral band and the street stands of Chinamen, who vended dressed turkeys, chickens, ducks and other edibles. While the funeral services were in progress, the crowd was augmented to several thousand laughing, shouting, curious men, women and children. The Chinese custom, which is to bury the dead in the morning, was followed by the Chinese funeral band and the street stands of Chinamen, who vended dressed turkeys, chickens, ducks and other edibles. While the funeral services were in progress, the crowd was augmented to several thousand laughing, shouting, curious men, women and children. The Chinese custom, which is to bury the dead in the morning, was followed by the Chinese funeral band and the street stands of Chinamen, who vended dressed turkeys, chickens, ducks and other edibles. While the funeral services were in progress, the crowd was augmented to several thousand laughing, shouting, curious men, women and children. The Chinese custom, which is to bury the dead in the morning, was followed by the Chinese funeral band and the street stands of Chinamen, who vended dressed turkeys, chickens, ducks and other edibles. While the funeral services were in progress, the crowd was augmented to several thousand laughing, shouting, curious men, women and children. The Chinese custom, which is to bury the dead in the morning, was followed by the Chinese funeral band and the street stands of Chinamen, who vended dressed turkeys, chickens, ducks and other edibles. While the funeral services were in progress, the crowd was augmented to several thousand laughing, shouting, curious men, women and children. The Chinese custom, which is to bury the dead in the morning, was followed by the Chinese funeral band and the street stands of Chinamen, who vended dressed turkeys, chickens, ducks and other edibles. While the funeral services were in progress, the crowd was augmented to several thousand laughing, shouting, curious men, women and children. The Chinese custom, which is to bury the dead in the morning, was followed by the Chinese funeral band and the street stands of Chinamen, who vended dressed turkeys, chickens, ducks and other edibles. While the funeral services were in progress, the crowd was augmented to several thousand laughing, shouting, curious men, women and children. The Chinese custom, which is to bury the dead in the morning, was followed by the Chinese funeral band and the street stands of Chinamen, who vended dressed turkeys, chickens, ducks and other edibles. While the funeral services were in progress, the crowd was augmented to several thousand laughing, shouting, curious men, women and children. The Chinese custom, which is to bury the dead in the morning, was followed by the Chinese funeral band and the street stands of Chinamen, who vended dressed turkeys, chickens, ducks and other edibles. While the funeral services were in progress, the crowd was augmented to several thousand laughing, shouting, curious men, women and children. The Chinese custom, which is to bury the dead in the morning, was followed by the Chinese funeral band and the street stands of Chinamen, who vended dressed turkeys, chickens, ducks and other edibles. While the funeral services were in progress, the crowd was augmented to several thousand laughing, shouting, curious men, women and children. The Chinese custom, which is to bury the dead in the morning, was followed by the Chinese funeral band and the street stands of Chinamen, who vended dressed turkeys, chickens, ducks and other edibles. While the funeral services were in progress, the crowd was augmented to several thousand laughing, shouting, curious men, women and children. The Chinese custom, which is to bury the dead in the morning, was followed by the Chinese funeral band and the street stands of Chinamen, who vended dressed turkeys, chickens, ducks and other edibles. While the funeral services were in progress, the crowd was augmented to several thousand laughing, shouting, curious men, women and children. The Chinese custom, which is to bury the dead in the morning, was followed by the Chinese funeral band and the street stands of Chinamen, who vended dressed turkeys, chickens, ducks and other edibles. While the funeral services were in progress, the crowd was augmented to several thousand laughing, shouting, curious men, women and children. The Chinese custom, which is to bury the dead in the morning, was followed by the Chinese funeral band and the street stands of Chinamen, who vended dressed turkeys, chickens, ducks and other edibles. While the funeral services were in progress, the crowd was augmented to several thousand laughing, shouting, curious men, women and children. The Chinese custom, which is to bury the dead in the morning, was followed by the Chinese funeral band and the street stands of Chinamen, who vended dressed turkeys, chickens, ducks and other edibles. While the funeral services were in progress, the crowd was augmented to several thousand laughing, shouting, curious men, women and children. The Chinese custom, which is to bury the dead in the morning, was followed by the Chinese funeral band and the street stands of Chinamen, who vended dressed turkeys, chickens, ducks and other edibles. While the funeral services were in progress, the crowd was augmented to several thousand laughing, shouting, curious men, women and children. The Chinese custom, which is to bury the dead in the morning, was followed by the Chinese funeral band and the street stands of Chinamen, who vended dressed turkeys, chickens, ducks and other edibles. While the funeral services were in progress, the crowd was augmented to several thousand laughing, shouting, curious men, women and children. The Chinese custom, which is to bury the dead in the morning, was followed by the Chinese funeral band and the street stands of Chinamen, who vended dressed turkeys, chickens, ducks and other edibles. While the funeral services were in progress, the crowd was augmented to several thousand laughing, shouting, curious men, women and children. The Chinese custom, which is to bury the dead in the morning, was followed by the Chinese funeral band and the street stands of Chinamen, who vended dressed turkeys, chickens, ducks and other edibles. While the funeral services were in progress, the crowd was augmented to several thousand laughing, shouting, curious men, women and children. The Chinese custom, which is to bury the dead in the morning, was followed by the Chinese funeral band and the street stands of Chinamen, who vended dressed turkeys, chickens, ducks and other edibles. While the funeral services were in progress, the crowd was augmented to several thousand laughing, shouting, curious men, women and children. The Chinese custom, which is to bury the dead in the morning, was followed by the Chinese funeral band and the street stands of Chinamen, who vended dressed turkeys, chickens, ducks and other edibles. While the funeral services were in progress, the crowd was augmented to several thousand laughing, shouting, curious men, women and children. The Chinese custom, which is to bury the dead in the morning, was followed by the Chinese funeral band and the street stands of Chinamen, who vended dressed turkeys, chickens, ducks and other edibles. While the funeral services were in progress, the crowd was augmented to several thousand laughing, shouting, curious men, women and children. The Chinese custom, which is to bury the dead in the morning, was followed by the Chinese funeral band and the street stands of Chinamen, who vended dressed turkeys, chickens, ducks and other edibles. While the funeral services were in progress, the crowd was augmented to several thousand laughing, shouting, curious men, women and children. The Chinese custom, which is to bury the dead in the morning, was followed by the Chinese funeral band and the street stands of Chinamen, who vended dressed turkeys, chickens, ducks and other edibles. While the funeral services were in progress, the crowd was augmented to several thousand laughing, shouting, curious men, women and children. The Chinese custom, which is to bury the dead in the morning, was followed by the Chinese funeral band and the street stands of Chinamen, who vended dressed turkeys, chickens, ducks and other edibles. While the funeral services were in progress, the crowd was augmented to several thousand laughing, shouting, curious men, women and children. The Chinese custom, which is to bury the dead in the morning, was followed by the Chinese funeral band and the street stands of Chinamen, who vended dressed turkeys, chickens, ducks and other edibles. While the funeral services were in progress, the crowd was augmented to several thousand laughing, shouting, curious men, women and children. The Chinese custom, which is to bury the dead in the morning, was followed by the Chinese funeral band and the street stands of Chinamen, who vended dressed turkeys, chickens, ducks and other edibles. While the funeral services were in progress, the crowd was augmented to several thousand laughing, shouting, curious men, women and children. The Chinese custom, which is to bury the dead in the morning, was followed by the Chinese funeral band and the street stands of Chinamen, who vended dressed turkeys, chickens, ducks and other edibles. While the funeral services were in progress, the crowd was augmented to several thousand laughing, shouting, curious men, women and children. The Chinese custom, which is to bury the dead in the morning, was followed by the Chinese funeral band and the street stands of Chinamen, who vended dressed turkeys, chickens, ducks and other edibles. While the funeral services were in progress, the crowd was augmented to several thousand laughing, shouting, curious men, women and children. The Chinese custom, which is to bury the dead in the morning, was followed by the Chinese funeral band and the street stands of Chinamen, who vended dressed turkeys, chickens, ducks and other edibles. While the funeral services were in progress, the crowd was augmented to several thousand laughing, shouting, curious men, women and children. The Chinese custom, which is to bury the dead in the morning, was followed by the Chinese funeral band and the street stands of Chinamen, who vended dressed turkeys, chickens, ducks and other edibles. While the funeral services were in progress, the crowd was augmented to several thousand laughing, shouting, curious men, women and children. The Chinese custom, which is to bury the dead in the morning, was followed by the Chinese funeral band and the street stands of Chinamen, who vended dressed turkeys, chickens, ducks and other edibles. While the funeral services were in progress, the crowd was augmented to several thousand laughing, shouting, curious men, women and children. The Chinese custom, which is to bury the dead in the morning, was followed by the Chinese funeral band and the street stands of Chinamen, who vended dressed turkeys, chickens, ducks and other edibles. While the funeral services were in progress, the crowd was augmented to several thousand laughing, shouting, curious men, women and children. The Chinese custom, which is to bury the dead in the morning, was followed by the Chinese funeral band and the street stands of Chinamen, who vended dressed turkeys, chickens, ducks and other edibles. While the funeral services were in progress, the crowd was augmented to several thousand laughing, shouting, curious men, women and children. The Chinese custom, which is to bury the dead in the morning, was followed by the Chinese funeral band and the street stands of Chinamen, who vended dressed turkeys, chickens, ducks and other edibles. While the funeral services were in progress, the crowd was augmented to several thousand laughing, shouting, curious men, women and children. The Chinese custom, which is to bury the dead in the morning, was followed by the Chinese funeral band and the street stands of Chinamen, who vended dressed turkeys, chickens, ducks and other edibles. While the funeral services were in progress, the crowd was augmented to several thousand laughing, shouting, curious men, women and children. The Chinese custom, which is to bury the dead in the morning, was followed by the Chinese funeral band and the street stands of Chinamen, who vended dressed turkeys, chickens, ducks and other edibles. While the funeral services were in progress, the crowd was augmented to several thousand laughing, shouting, curious men, women and children. The Chinese custom, which is to bury the dead in the morning, was followed by the Chinese funeral band and the street stands of Chinamen, who vended dressed turkeys, chickens, ducks and other edibles. While the funeral services were in progress, the crowd was augmented to several thousand laughing, shouting, curious men, women and children. The Chinese custom, which is to bury the dead in the morning, was followed by the Chinese funeral band and the street stands of Chinamen, who vended dressed turkeys, chickens, ducks and other edibles. While the funeral services were in progress, the crowd was augmented to several thousand laughing, shouting, curious men, women and children. The Chinese custom, which is to bury the dead in the morning, was followed by the Chinese funeral band and the street stands of Chinamen, who vended dressed turkeys, chickens, ducks and other edibles. While the funeral services were in progress, the crowd was augmented to several thousand laughing, shouting, curious men, women and children. The Chinese custom, which is to bury the dead in the morning, was followed by the Chinese funeral band and the street stands of Chinamen, who vended dressed turkeys, chickens, ducks and other edibles. While the funeral services were in progress, the crowd was augmented to several thousand laughing, shouting, curious men, women and children. The Chinese custom, which is to bury the dead in the morning, was followed by the Chinese funeral band and the street stands of Chinamen, who vended dressed turkeys, chickens, ducks and other edibles. While the funeral services were in progress, the crowd was augmented to several thousand laughing, shouting, curious men, women and children. The Chinese custom, which is to bury the dead in the morning, was followed by the Chinese funeral band and the street stands of Chinamen, who vended dressed turkeys, chickens, ducks and other edibles. While the funeral services were in progress, the crowd was augmented to several thousand laughing, shouting, curious men, women and children. The Chinese custom, which is to bury the dead in the morning, was followed by the Chinese funeral band and the street stands of Chinamen, who vended dressed turkeys, chickens, ducks and other edibles. While the funeral services were in progress, the crowd was augmented to several thousand laughing, shouting, curious men, women and children. The Chinese custom, which is to bury the dead in the morning, was followed by the Chinese funeral band and the street stands of Chinamen, who vended dressed turkeys, chickens, ducks and other edibles. While the funeral services were in progress, the crowd was augmented to several thousand laughing, shouting, curious men, women and children. The Chinese custom, which is to bury the dead in the morning, was followed by the Chinese funeral band and the street stands of Chinamen, who vended dressed turkeys, chickens, ducks and other edibles. While the funeral services were in progress, the crowd was augmented to several thousand laughing, shouting, curious men, women and children. The Chinese custom, which is to bury the dead in the morning, was followed by the Chinese funeral band and the street stands of Chinamen, who vended dressed turkeys, chickens, ducks and other edibles. While the funeral services were in progress, the crowd was augmented to several thousand laughing, shouting, curious men, women and children. The Chinese custom, which is to bury the dead in the morning, was followed by the Chinese funeral band and the street stands of Chinamen, who vended dressed turkeys, chickens, ducks and other edibles. While the funeral services were in progress, the crowd was augmented to several thousand laughing, shouting, curious men, women and children. The Chinese custom, which is to bury the dead in the morning, was followed by the Chinese funeral band and the street stands of Chinamen, who vended dressed turkeys, chickens, ducks and other edibles. While the funeral services were in progress, the crowd was augmented to several thousand laughing, shouting, curious men, women and children. The Chinese custom, which is to bury the dead in the morning, was followed by the Chinese funeral band and the street stands of Chinamen, who vended dressed turkeys, chickens, ducks and other edibles. While the funeral services were in progress, the crowd was augmented to several thousand laughing, shouting, curious men, women and children. The Chinese custom, which is to bury the dead in the morning, was followed by the Chinese funeral band and the street stands of Chinamen, who vended dressed turkeys, chickens, ducks and other edibles. While the funeral services were in progress, the crowd was augmented to several thousand laughing, shouting, curious men, women and children. The Chinese custom, which is to bury the dead in the morning, was followed by the Chinese funeral band and the street stands of Chinamen, who vended dressed turkeys, chickens, ducks and other edibles. While the funeral services were in progress, the crowd was augmented to several thousand laughing, shouting, curious men, women and children. The Chinese custom, which is to bury the dead in the morning, was followed by the Chinese funeral band and the street stands of Chinamen, who vended dressed turkeys, chickens, ducks and other edibles. While the funeral services were in progress, the crowd was augmented to several thousand laughing, shouting, curious men, women and children. The Chinese custom, which is to bury the dead in the morning, was followed by the Chinese funeral band and the street stands of Chinamen, who vended dressed turkeys, chickens, ducks and other edibles. While the funeral services were in progress, the crowd was augmented to several thousand laughing, shouting, curious men, women and children. The Chinese custom, which is to bury the dead in the morning, was followed by the Chinese funeral band and the street stands of Chinamen, who vended dressed turkeys, chickens, ducks and other edibles. While the funeral services were in progress, the crowd was augmented to several thousand laughing, shouting, curious men, women and children. The Chinese custom, which is to bury the dead in the morning, was followed by the Chinese funeral band and the street stands of Chinamen, who vended dressed turkeys, chickens, ducks and other edibles. While the funeral services were in progress, the crowd was augmented to several thousand laughing, shouting, curious men, women and children. The Chinese custom, which is to bury the dead in the morning, was followed by the Chinese funeral band and the street stands of Chinamen, who vended dressed turkeys, chickens, ducks and other edibles. While the funeral services were in progress, the crowd was augmented to several thousand laughing, shouting, curious men, women and children. The Chinese custom, which is to bury the dead in the morning, was followed by the Chinese funeral band and the street stands of Chinamen, who vended dressed turkeys, chickens, ducks and other edibles. While the funeral services were in progress, the crowd was augmented to several thousand laughing, shouting, curious men, women and children. The Chinese custom, which is to bury the dead in the morning, was followed by the Chinese funeral band and the street stands of Chinamen, who vended dressed turkeys, chickens, ducks and other edibles. While the funeral services were in progress, the crowd was augmented to several thousand laughing, shouting, curious men, women and children. The Chinese custom, which is to bury the dead in the morning, was followed by the Chinese funeral band and the street stands of Chinamen, who vended dressed turkeys, chickens, ducks and other edibles. While the funeral services were in progress, the crowd was augmented to several thousand laughing, shouting, curious men, women and children. The Chinese custom, which is to bury the dead in the morning, was followed by the Chinese funeral band and the street stands of Chinamen, who vended dressed turkeys, chickens, ducks and other edibles. While the funeral services were in progress, the crowd was augmented to several thousand laughing, shouting, curious men, women and children. The Chinese custom, which is to bury the dead in the morning, was followed by the Chinese funeral band and the street stands of Chinamen, who vended dressed turkeys, chickens, ducks and other edibles. While the funeral services were in progress, the crowd was augmented to several thousand laughing, shouting, curious men, women and children. The Chinese custom, which is to bury the dead in the morning, was followed by the Chinese funeral band and the street stands of Chinamen, who vended dressed turkeys, chickens, ducks and other edibles. While the funeral services were in progress, the crowd was augmented to several thousand laughing, shouting, curious men, women and children. The Chinese custom, which is to bury the dead in the morning, was followed by the Chinese funeral band and the street stands of Chinamen, who vended dressed turkeys, chickens, ducks and other edibles. While the funeral services were in progress, the crowd was augmented to several thousand laughing, shouting, curious men, women and children. The Chinese custom, which is to bury the dead in the morning, was followed by the Chinese funeral band and the street stands of Chinamen, who vended dressed turkeys, chickens, ducks and other edibles. While the funeral services were in progress, the crowd was augmented to several thousand laughing, shouting, curious men, women and children. The Chinese custom, which is to bury the dead in the morning, was followed by the Chinese funeral band and the street stands of Chinamen, who vended dressed turkeys, chickens, ducks and other edibles. While the funeral services were in